COURSE OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of the course the participant will be able to:

1. Compare and contrast the physical therapist's role and responsibilities associated with the differential diagnostic process versus a physician's.
2. Integrate the medical screening principles in order to formulate an efficient and effective patient examination scheme.
3. Evaluate history and physical examination findings, with emphasis on review of systems, and decide whether communication with a physician is warranted regarding a patient's health status.
4. Identify symptoms and signs that warrant immediate communication with a physician.
5. Employ strategies to facilitate professional communication between physician and physical therapist.
6. Effectively pursue additional information associated with differential diagnosis by the physical therapist.
